Part 3: Supporting Diversity and Inclusion in Edible Education

The Edible Schoolyard Project is committed to supporting diversity and inclusion in the field of edible education. We believe that our movement is made stronger, more effective, and most relevant for our students and communities by the leadership of practitioners who bring with them a wide array of backgrounds, perspectives, cultures, and lived experiences.

We strongly encourage applications from practitioners of diverse backgrounds. Applicants who will contribute to the overall diversity of the Summer Training will be given preference during the review process.

22. Please share how you / your team would contribute to the diversity (for example: racial, ethnic, and cultural background; geography; school type; communities served through your programming; lived experiences) of the Summer Training cohort.

Part 4: Learning About Your Work and Vision

We are excited to learn about your programming! Please note that it's ok if you are in the early stages of offering programming, or even if you have not yet started offering programming for students. What we are looking for is thoughtfulness around the purpose of your program, a deep understanding of and connection to the communities you seek to serve, demonstrated work to obtain the support necessary to grow your program, and clarity of vision for what you hope to achieve in the next year.

Please limit your responses to approximately 300 words per question.

23. Please share about your program as it exists today. We are hoping to learn about:

- Any initial program planning or conversations that have taken place?
- Who is part of your organization or team and what their roles are?
- If you are currently offering educational programming, what does this look like?

(maximum 300 words)

24. Please tell us about your community: who is your edible education programming for?

Who are the student and community populations you currently serve or will serve?

(maximum 300 words)

25. What is the purpose and / or mission of your program? Please share about the impact you seek to make through your programming. (maximum 300 words)

26. Please describe the current level of administrative, funding, and community support you have for running edible education programming. If you have yet to secure the support necessary to grow your program in any of these three domains, what plans do you have for growing the level of support for your program? (maximum 300 words)

27. What goals do you have for the upcoming school year and what do you hope your program will look like by the end of the 2026 – 2027 school year? (maximum 300 words)

28. What does your program need in order to achieve those goals, and what do you hope to learn or gain from attending the Summer Training that would support you? (maximum 300 words)

Part 5: Closing

29. Is there any other information about you, your team or organization, your programming, or your community that you'd like us to know?
